Lorie Johns

Advisors, don't let your clients be "caught off guard"!

Throughout her professional career, she has extensive experience working with Financial Advisors and individual clients, advising them on how to prepare for the Medicare years.

When selecting a health insurance plan for a client, it's crucial to adhere to federal government rules, particularly for individuals aged 65 and over, as well as those under 65.

Come meet with her to pick her brain with all of your questions and concerns about the turmoil in today's health insurance landscape. There are changes coming with many plans.
